LOCATION

The offices are at first floor level above Sue Ryder and fronts North Street and has independent access via a small gated courtyard from North Street Parade. Nearby retail occupiers include Waterstones, Mind, Superdrug and Iceland.

Being within the prime retail area, the offices would lend themselves for a variety of other uses including clinical, beauty or similar. North Street Parade links North Street with the main shoppers car park, the premises are also opposite the pedestrian walkway into the Girling Street car park. Sudbury railway and bus stations are about 5 minutes' walk.

Sudbury itself is a busy and expanding market town with a population of around 25,000 (including Great Cornard) and where growth is continuing with the new Chilton Woods development of around 1,000 homes.

The town is situated some 14 miles northwest of Colchester, 15 miles south of Bury St Edmunds and both the M11 and Stansted Airport are within 45 minutes' drive time.

DESCRIPTION

The accommodation was originally designed to provide open plan office space but in recent years has been operated as a business centre, so the space has been subdivided to form a large open plan office/reception area with six independent offices directly accessed from this. The accommodation has exceptional natural light and access is by means of an impressive wide and easy rising staircase with a large gents' cloakroom at the ground floor level, a kitchenette and large ladies cloakroom are on the first floor.

The offices have modern uPVC windows and the accommodation provided is as follows: -

Ground Floor Entrance with part glazed entrance door and wide staircase leading to a landing with door into -
